Inaugural Book Collector’s Evening

Come join us for an engaging evening and share your love of books and your experiences in book collecting with fellow collectors. We invite you to bring your favorite or most prized book or the one that launched you on the road to book collecting. A selection of choice titles will be auctioned in support of the Marriott Library. Luise Poulton, Curator of the Rare Book Division of Special Collections, will be displaying some of our rarest treasures.

Ken Lopez, an internationally known dealer specializing in first editions, will be the evening’s speaker. He will describe his experiences in collecting and selling rare books. Ken specializes in modern literary first editions, Native American literature, literature on the Vietnam War, the sixties, and nature writing.
